About Us

The Iowa Permit Technicians Association (IPTA), established in 2019, is a nonprofit organization dedicated to supporting the professional growth of Iowa's permit technicians.

As the first point of contact in most building departments, permit techs play a vital role in setting the tone for customer experience, answering key questions, and ensuring accurate, efficient processing of permits. Investing in their training means investing in better service, smoother operations, and stronger results for the entire department.

As an affiliated chapter of the International Code Council (ICC), IPTA provides access to ongoing education, certification support, networking opportunities, and a statewide community committed to professionalism and excellence.

Training & Events

IPTA's Annual Conference delivers targeted training designed to strengthen building departments from the front desk forward.

Courses focus on topics like code requirements, customer service, basic plan review, and more - equipping permit technicians with tools to serve the public effectively and support department efficiency.

It's a valuable opportunity to earn ICC CEUs, gain practical skills, and build connections across Iowa's code community.
